Terrible Destruction of Christians in Armenia.

SLAUGHTER OF THE INNOCENTS.

Turkish Soldiers, Aided by Bloodthirsty Kurds, Induige in Barbarities That Would Disgrace Darkest Africa-Babes and Their Mothers Impaled on Bayonets.

LONDON, Nov. 17.-The chairman of the Armenian Patriotic association, G. Hagoplan, has sent the following letter, received from an Armenian, whose name is not given because it would jeopardize his life, to the Earl of Kimberley, the secretary of state for foreign affairs. The letter is accompanied by one from Hagopian, in which he says:

"I have no reason to doubt the authenticity of the details. They will be borne out by fuller official reports, which have been, or which will soon be received from the British agents in Armenia. The events reported are the reenactment of the Bulgarian atrocities, with all their most sa kening details of flendish lust and atrocious cruelty on unarmed Christians and defenseless, innocent women and children, deliberately planned and ruthlessly executed under orders received from Con-

The letter of the Armenian thus pre-faced, is dated Bitlis, Oct. 9. After saying that the chief magnate appears to be a second Nero the writer continues:

"The so called rebellion of the Armenians in 1508 was a got up affair, for the repression of which the chief magnate got a deceration

One or more consuls have been ordered that way to investigate the matter. If the Christians, instead of the Turks, reported these things in the city of Bitlis and the region where I have been touring the case would be different. But now we are compellod to believe it. The magnates are having papers erroulated, and are trying to compel the Christians to sign them, expressing satisfaction that justice should be dealt to the rebels, and thanking the king and the chief magnate himself. The Christions of Biths will not sign, though it is said that in some of the outlying districts some of the Christians have signed."

Another letter says that some of the regular soldiers themselves admit that they killed 100 persons each in a flendish manner, and that rape was followed by the bayonet. Twenty or thirty Armenian villages, it would seem, have been wholly destroyed, and some persons were burned to death with kerosene in their own houses.

Mr. Hallward, the British consul at Van, proceeded to the scene of the outdrages, and later reported to the British ambassador at Constantinople, who protested to the porte. The sultan expressed horror at the crimes, and ordered an immediate report from Marshal Zeki, which appears to have seriously involved the governor of Ritlis. The latter, in self defense, and as a means of obtaining revenge, has formulated the grave charge against Mr. Hallward of having incited the Armenians to revolt. This matter is being investigated by British officials on the spot. An official dispatch from Constantinople declares that the atrocities committed were the work of Armenian brigands and insurgent Kurds. The matter will be Iy. Sold at McMonagie & Rogers

DOUBLE MURDER IN KENTUCKY. Brothers Laid in Wait for Their Victims and Shot Them Down.

LULA, Miss., Nov. 17.—There was a pitched battle in the main business street of Lula yesterday, and as a result two men are dead. J. R. Boyd and his brother Rob stood in a doorway until they saw J. W. Harman and H. T. Lawrence approaching on their way to dinner. Then the two brothers, each armed with a shotgun, stepped forth and opened fire on the others. Harman had time to draw his pistol, and fired twice at the Boyds, but without effect. Each of the brothers had his man picked out, and at the first volley both of the men fell.

The elder Boyd mounted a horse and rode away, while the other escaped on foot. They sent word later that they would surrender to the sheriff, but to no one else. The tragedy is the result of an old feud. There had been bad blood between the elder Boyd and Harman for several months, and in a recent fight Harman had beat Boyd severely with a pistol. Harman was mayor of Luia. Lawrence was a jeweler and J. R. Boyd is a plantation overseer.

A Candidate for Lynching.

Atchison, Kan., Nov. 17 - Considerable suppressed excitement which may end in a lynching has been caused here by the brutal acts of a negro. Early in the morning an unknown negro entered the home of four highly respectable white ladies living within four blocks of each other and outraged them. The fiend was evidently acquainted with the fact that the male folks at each place were absent at the time. The victims are Mrs. Michael Kain, . Miss Rosa Kain, Mrs. Gross and Mrs. Benjamin Poston. Tom Collins, a negro hostler, the suspected assailant, is under heavy guard in the county jail, but a lynching is expected.

There was no recommendation to mercy. While many women in the court room wept, the prisoner took the verdict without apparent emotion. His father, who sat beside him, quivered as though shaken by a chill when the clark of the court read: "We. the jury, find that the defendant is guilty." ELMIRA'S TRIPLE SHOOTING. A Business Wan Kills His Wife and Fatally

Shoots His Sister in-Law and Himself. ELMIEA, N. Y., Nov. 17.-Martin V. Strait, a well known flour and feed dealer, yesterday afternoon fatally shot his wife, put one bullet in the body of Mrs. Whitford, which may cause her death, and then turning the revolver on himself tried three times to put a bullet through his own heart, failing to strike that organ, but inflicting wounds which will undoubtedly cause his death. The shooting was the result of domestic difficulties. The Whitford and Strait families, until a few weeks ago, lived in the same house on East Hudson street, the women being sisters. Then Mrs. Whitford had trouble with her husband, and had him arrested for non-support. The case was not prosecuted, and Whitford was released. His wife and her sister then induced him to return, fearing, it is said, sults for prosecution for false imprison-

Then Strait and his wife fell to quarreling and separated, but soon buried their difficulties and again resumed marital relations. About three weeks ago they again fell out, and this quarrel seems to have been of a serious nature. Strait tried in vain to gain the goodwill of his wife, but failed. Yesterday morning he sent her a note by a messenger boy and evidently expected a conciliatory answer, but the boy returned with the report that the woman said there was no answer. Then Strait evidently determined on his bloody

THE OUTLOOK MORE ENCOURAGING.

Even the Country Merchants Doing an Increased Volume of Business, and All Have Confidence in an Early Improvement-Heavy Bank Clearings Reported.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 .-- Bradstreets' review of trade says: Perhaps the most conspicuous favorable feature of the general trade situation is found in numerous reports from merchants and manufacturers throughout the country of a disposition to regard the business outlook more encouragingly, and with increased confidence in an early improvement in trade. Even in many portions of the south and southwest advices from the interior are that the country merchant is doing an increased volume of business, based on favorable weather and large crops. This is the more striking in view of the continued reports of the unfavorable effect on trade south of the low price of cotton.

In eastern centers manufacturers of glass, leather, lumber, cottons and woolens, tobacco and agricultural implements, as well as jobbers in general dry goods hardware, groceries, heavy clothing and shoes in numerous instances report an increased volume of business, indications of this tendency being corrobprated by bank clearings at seventy-five cities, amounting to $1.019.000,000, a gain of 7.6 per cent. as compared with the week before, 1.3 per cent, heavier than in the like week last year, and 32 per cent. less than in the second week of November, 1992. This is the first week in which the volume of clearings has equaled or exceeded $1,000.000.000 since early in January last.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s review says: In nearly all branches of business gradual improvement appears and the hopeful feeling observed last week continues. It will take tune to lift business out of its depression, and the progress made, if less than the sanguine expected, is at least encouraging. The decision to offer $50,000,000 bonds for replenishment of the treasury reserve was, by bankers, generally approved. It is generally assumed that the bonds will be taken at once. The failures of the past week have been 270 in the United States, against 323 for the same week last year, and & in Canada, aguinst 36 last year.

THE SPORTING DUCHESS DEAD. An Eccentric Aristocrat Who Was a Lover of Fast Horses.

LONDON, Nov 17,-Caroline Agnes Ben esford. Dowager Duchess of Montrose, known in the racing world as "Mr. Man-ton" and also as the "Red Duchess," is dead. The duchess expired at her Landon residence, 45 Belgrave square, S. W.

The deceased duchess was a very erratic person, and although the English aristoc racy, from the Prince of Wales downward treated her with civility on the turf, they did not show her much attention in social circles. She was the daughter of the seeond Baron Decies, and was born in 1818. Her nickname of the "Red Duchess" was derived from her habit of wearing flaming red apparel when visiting the race courses. First she was wedded to the fourth Duke of Montrose, then to William Stuart Stirling-Crawford, and lastly, in 1888, to

Marcus Henry Milnear. The duchess, never on particularly cor-dial terms with the relations of her first husband, broke altogether with the family when she married Mr. Crawford. She speedily developed a love of horse racing, even more ardent than that of her new husband, and on his death, which occurred after some eight years of uninterrupted felicity, the duchess apparently resolved to devote the remainder of her life to two objects-the winning of races and the erection of a magnificent and costly mausolcum in memory of her second husband. She selected Newmarket, the headquarters of racing in England, for the mortuary chapel, which, at a cost of something like $250,000, she built and dedicated to the memory of Mr. Crawford. The duchess was a very plain spoken woman, and could swear roundly at a peccant jockey when she deemed that his unskillful riding demanded such verbal

Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing, an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucus discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing cound in the ears and oftentimes a very ofcuts, bruises, scres, ulcers, sait fensive discharge. $15,000 FOR TRANSPARENCIES.

A Single Item of the Cost of the Political Canvass In New York City.

During the two weeks preceding an election in New York city those sign painters who make a specialty of political transparencies have something of a harvest. There are only a few of them, and they divide about $15,000 paid for printing on canvas the names of the candidates and affixing the canvas to a plan wooden frame which serves as the wood after the election. The average cost of the campaign transparency stretched in front of a party headquarters is $15. There were about 1,000 such transparencies in New York city this year, averaging about 35 in each assembly district.

Tammany had a headquarters in every assembly district. The Republicans had two headquarters in every assembly district-those of the regulars and the Milhollandites. Then there were the State Democracy, the Anti-Tammany Democracy, the Independent county organization, the Good Government clubs. the German Reform union, the New York or Voorhis Democracy and the socialists, Populists and Prohibition ists. Next came the asmess men's associal clubs which made political nominations, and such independent organi zations as the Itaman-American Republicans, the Hungarian Democrats and the Swedish anti-Tammanyites. Each congress candidate usually had a separate headquarters, and some of the as sembly and aldermanic candidates also opened rooms of their own. The most elaborate of the campaign transparencies was, of course, to be found in front of Tammany hall. This year two changes of candidates-judge of the court of appeals and mayor-had been made upon it, which is unusual in one election. After the battle of the ballots was over the canvas on the transparencies was torn to shreds, and the wooden framework was split up. There was nothing left to show for the expenditure of about $15,000. - New York Sun.

Artist Watts Has a Word to Say About His "Love and Life."

Mr. George M. Watts, R. A., the em inent English artist, sends the following letter to the New York Herald ap ropos of the dispute between the Washington authorities and the Metropolitan Museum of Art in regard to the posses sion of his painting, "Love and Life:"

"In regard to the picture I presumed to present to the government of the United States it may not be out of place for me, in the first place, to point out that the painting represents in the simplest manner that naked humanity is aided to ascend from the depths of base animalism by love, meaning sympathy, generosity and aspiration, signified by the broad wings. The figures are purely symbolical, having, I hope, no tinge of sensuality in the character of their

"My idea was that the great Ameri can nation would in time gather together a splendid collection of works of art, which will represent the mind of the English speaking races, but that awaiting this time my offering should find a home in some such place as the Metropolitan museum of New York, though I may add that after some correspondence with the American embassy here I accepted the arrangement that a tem porary resting place should be found in some public room or gallery of the White House.

"I can't, however, presume to offer any voice in the matter beyond saying that the painting is essentially a gallery picture and was never contemplated by me as hanging in any dwelling house whatever.

"A slight impatience was shown among the audience at the delay in raising the curtain, and shortly the manager appeared to announce that one of the actors had been taken ill, which necessitated his role being taken by a substitute.

"Then the act commenced, but suddenly every one was startled by the appearance of another character on the stage, who immediately began to explain himself as follows:

" They have deceived you. I am not ill, but they have not paid me, and as I have not dined I was of course unable to fulfill my role.

"The public was at first stupefied, but very soon acclaimed the actor, and money literally rained on the stage. Finally at the end of several minutes the actor, who probably had received satisfaction, entered the stage and played his part, much to the delight of the Flowers Dear In New York.

Violets cost only 50 cents a bunch, but the bunches are very small. For 25 cents the Broadway florists make up little bunches for the buttonhole of men's coats, but they contain only one-third of the original bunch. The best chrys inthemums sell on Broadway for $1 each. As cultivators would grow rich selling them at 5 cents each, some one must be making good for the late hard times .- Now York Correspondent.

What a Few Punctures by One of Its Dudes Discloses

This is the time of year when the society writer makes up his list of coming debutantes and dwells feelingly on their youth, beauty and wealth, as if he—poor fello.v—would like to get at them himself. I believe there are no raving beauties about to be launched this year, but there are plenty of money and a lot of young women of whom it may be said, "They are such nice girls!" Little Miss Gertrude Vanderbilt, who is dainty and entirely sweet, is, of course, the heiress par excellence of the season, and the scramble after her will be something awful. Indeed nearly all the New York families of note have something in the way of a daughter to contribute to society. I fear that most of these pretty little girls must be content with the introduction of a tea, a cruel and barbarous ceremony, to be sure, but inexpensive and easily managed. None of the debutantes, with the exception of Miss Vanderbilt, has any chance of a coming out ball simply because none of them lives in a big enough house, and times are not propitions for hiring halls. Mrs. Coleman Drayton's legal answer to her husband's complaint is rather unsatisfactory to society. She simply says she didn't and leaves it an open question between her own and her hus band's veracity. People rather hoped for something with more spice in it, more boiling oil, so to speak. When people who lead society come to grief in divorce courts, people have a right to expect a great sensation. To simply say: "You are all wrong. I never was there in my life," is not what we have been expecting. Society holds that Mrs. Drayton should have named some haunts said to have been frequented by her husband and made matters generally unpleasant for him. In its present shape it doesn't look as if the case would ever be brought to trial, and therefore society, which once fawned upon Mrs. Drayton, is disappointed. It actually feels as if Mrs. Drayton had in some way done it a grievous injustice.

Well, chappies, what are we coming to anyhow? Here is young Steevie Thorn, who married the concert hall singer, Mile. Di Dio, taking his bride to the Midway plai-ance of the Waldorf -right into the heart of the Four Hundred, as it were-and during there, while society cranes its neck to see the new Mrs. Thorn and wonders whether she will burst forth in song while at table. Oh, dear! but it was most devilishly exciting, don't you know, and naughty Steevie had the auducity to seem to actually enjoy it all.—Cholly Knickerbocker in New York Recorder.

A CORNER IN ELK TEETH.

Losekamp Has Over 86,000 of Them Locked Up In Salety Vaults.

Mr. John D. Losekump of Billings Mon., practically holds the elk tooth stock of the entire country, and to his already enormous supply he is constantly adding, the Indians and hunters bringing teeth to him from all over the country. Not every one knows that the olk teeth, or rather the tusks, of which two only are found in the mouth of the adult elk, have a practical commercial value. The footh are used as jewelry, mostly as pendants on watch guards or as insigma of the secret society known as the Elks. The value of a tooth ranges from 50 cents to $2.50, according to itsize, color and marking.

Mr. Losckamp has now over $6,000 elk teeth deposited in safety vaults. Many of the old Indian dieses were highly ornamented with elk teeth, some of them being fairly covered with the teeth. Mr. Losekamp has lived on the frontier all his mature life and understands Indian trading perfectly, yet he has sometimes paid over $100 for a single garment thus ornamented, caring, of course, for nothing but the teeth. The Indians brill the teeth to fasten them on their dresses, and this does not injure the value of the tooth, but they have a much worse habit of sometimes staining the teeth a bright red. This dye cannot be extracted and depreciates the value of the elk teeth for a white customer. The Indians do not dye the teeth so much now since they have learned they can sell them for more in their natural state. - Forest and Stream.

Never Asked For a Patent.

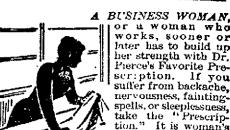

"Fifty-three years ago I invented the winnowing mill now in common use," says Moses Gilman of South Sangerville. "If I had had it patented, I might have realized a fortune from it, as all the machines that have been built since have been upon the same principle. Even the thrashing machine separators, which have superseded the old time fiail, use the winnowing mill substantially as I first made it for clearing the chaff from the grain. I have invented many other things that were valuable, but I never asked for a patent." Mr. Gilman, though 77 years old, is still at it inventing, and says if his strength and reason hold out he is going to produce some valuable new ideas yet .-Auburn (Me.) Gazette.

The Divine Sarah's Latest.

Sarah Bernhardt has developed a new eccentricity, if report is true, which does not inspire her friends with confidence in her attractive qualities as a hostess. In one of her reception rooms the furniture is a succession of surprises of the "shut up" order, which is more amusing to the divine Sarah than it is to her guest. As soon as he is seated in one cozy looking chair an invisible spring sends something up to tap him on the head, and directly he is scated in another the arms spread out and close around him so tightly that he is powerless to move until some one comes to release him. - Paris Journal.

FOR THE PLAIN PEOPLE. HEADQUARTERS MCCLURE'S

Paine's Celery Compound Makes Men and Women Well Again.

Dr. Shrady, in the Forum, gives some of the big fees that physicians receive from wealthy patients.

For four weeks' attendance during typhoid fever the physician to the prince of Wales received $50,000.

It is the countless homes in moderate circumstances, however, that find it so hard to pay for the frequent doctor, s visits. What the plain people want is the very best medicine, yet not beyond their means. They have it in Paine's celery compound.

To prepare such a great, popular remedy, that should embody the most advanced ideas regarding disease, and yet be easily within reach of the thousand modest homes where sickness exists, was the life-long ambition of that eminent Dartmouth professor, the greatest physician America has produced, Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D. Paine's celery compound, that remarkable nerve regulator and blood purifier, was first prepared by Prof. Phelps in the laboratory of the Dartmouth medical

Paine's celery compound embodied the sound theory of Prof. Phelps, that only by feeding and rebuilding worn-put, diseased nerve tissues could firm health be restored. This greatest of remedies sets to work at once to store the nerve tissues and the muscular tissues with the means of rapid growth. It urges the excretory organs to cleaned the blood, and fills it with new red corpuscles. There has never been anything like Paine's celery compound for building up the system when tired out, weak and bloodless. It has shown its marvelous power in permanently curing nervous debility and exhaustion, neuralgia, sleeplessness, melarcholy, headaches, dyspepsia, rheumatism, and disordered liver and blood disease—these many atlments being due to poverty and impurity | plain.

this century soon made its way into

of the nerves.

This most progressive remedy of hospitals, homes of physicians and into countless modest households in the large cities, and the happy results during all these years in every city and hamlet in this broad land sufficiently show its marvelous power over diseases of debility and weakness. Physicians advise its use whenever the system is "run down" and as an invaluable general topic for speedily recruiting the strength of the body.

Mr. E. E. Towne, who is one the best known business men in Springfield, Mass., has been a resident of that city for over 30 years. He has a fine read noe in the Mc-Knight district, and is well and favorably known among the best people of the city. He writes:

"I had spent thousands of dollars in hospitals and at different springs in trying to cure sciatic rheumatism. Almost every known remedy, bothinteral and external, was tried, but results were not satisfactory; no cure was effected. Early in 1894 after I had had some temporary relief). It has done for me in three months what other medicines did not do in years," The example is

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MID-DLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge. The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Ohronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor can-not give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor will visit Middletown one day each month Office hours from 10:39 a. m. to 6 p. m.

C. MACARDELL PUBLISHER.

GEORGE H. THOMPSON, O MACARDELL, -CITY EDITOR J. F. BOBINSON,

Business Manager L R NICKINSON. SATURDAY, NOV. 17, 1894.

The W. C. T. U, in convention at Cleveland, is indignant because Mrs Cleveland disregarded the request of the Philadelphia W. C. T. U. and used champagne instead of water in christening the St. Louis, and proposts to "take action in the matter." With so much of evil in the world with which the Union might grapple. it seems a waste of time and effort to sputter at Mrs. Cieveland and we cannot but think the women engaged in the agitation against her are more nice than wise, more fussy than consistent.

Business revival is surely under way, but it is no more pushing forward by leaps and bounds, now that a Republican tidal wave has stranded Democrats high and dry, than it was before that very remarkable experience. But let us be thankfu! that things are on the mend, even though the pace is that of the tortoise, not that of the hare.

There is but little or no chance of tariff legislation by the Congress which convenes in December. The "pop gun" bilis, making coal, iron, sugar and barbed wire fencing free of duty cannot get through the Senate, and talk of the kind may as well be dropped.

Prices for all sorts of textile fabries, woolens, worsteds, cottons, silks, are amazingly low, lower than they have ever before been, lower, in all likelihood, than they will be three months hence, or will ever again be. Depression all the world over has brought this about. What a pity it is that everybody can't make use of this golden opportunity for "laying in stock," as our merchant friends say. To be sure, if everybody had the "ready," wnerewith to buy stores would at once be so thronged that prices would take on a blom overnight. But there are lots of peo ple who have got money to spare to spend, who are not buying, the more fools they. In the slang of the day, they will be "kicking themselves," by and by, because they kept their purse-strings tied until the bargain time was over, -- until they had to replenish or go shabby.

HAS STOLEN ANOTHER RIG

John Alspach Has Been Operating Over the River. Captain Grier received, a day or two ago, a postal card from the Cortland Stock Protective Association of Peekskill, N. Y. describing a rig which had been stolen from the livery stable of Ferris & Barrett, of that village, on Ostober 18. The rig was hired by a man who in every way answers to the description of the German, John Alspach who attempted to sell a stolen rig in this city about that time. He seems to have gone directly from this city to Peekskill and worked his game on Ferris & Barrett.

Riordan had been drinking heavily and was very "groggy" when he appeared on the stage. The fatal blow, a right hander, lander on his jaw with sufficient force to bring hun to his knees and he then fell over apparently lifeless.

Fitzsimmons says the blow that caused the trouble was merely a slap, He declared that Riordan was a hard drinker and said he thought happoor condition was due to heart u uple. When informed of Riordan's death, Fitzsimmins broke down and wept pitifully. Just after the Riordan incident Joseph Dunfee, a local pugillat, set to with Fitziemmons and floored Firz ammons with a right hander, badly dazing him,

Hood's Sarsaparilla Made Him Feel as Young as a Boy. *C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen - I wish to express my grateful thanks for Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am on my seventh bottle and it has truly been a blessing to myself and wife. I had a severe attack of pneumonia last December, and it was thought I should die, but I gradually pulled through, and then did not seem to gain any strength. I had to be helped like an infant, and had fallen away from 145 to 80 lbs. I read about Hood's Barsaparilla, and I decided to take it.

I Soon Cained in Strength so that I could sit up, and then having a severe pain in the small of my back, sent for a TusSano Pain-Killing Plaster, which soon cured me of that trouble. Today I feel as well as ever in my life, and as young as a boy, although I am in my 61st year. I cannot express the gratitude of my heart for Hood's Sarsaparilla." Norman D. Young, Otsdawa, Otsego Co., New York.

OBITUARY.

Patrick Weldon.

Patrick Weldon died at the Homeopathic hospital at 5 o'clock, this morning, of alcoholism.

As most of our readers know Mr. Weldon was taken to the hospital, Thursday night, while suffering from an attack of mania a potu. He had been drinking heavily for some time and his nervous system was so badly shattered that it failed to respond to the usual remedies. He was about town a day or two after the attack came upon him before being apprehended by the police. If he had had medical treatment earlier his life might have been saved.

Mr. Weldon was about forty-five years old and was unmarried. He resided with his mother at No. 45 Montgomery street, who is the only immediate relative surviving him.

He was employed for a number of years on the water works, and with the exception of Superintendent Van Duzer, was more familiar with the city's water system than any other person. He was Mr. VanDuzer's right hand man and was in lustrious and trustworthy and temperate until after he left the employ of the water board.

IN FAVOR OF THE O AND W.

It Need Not Rebuild and Operate the

In the action brought to compel the Ontario and Western to open and operate the Auburn branch, Referee Halliday has decided in favor of the railroad company.

The Auburn branch was built in 1869 and '70, by the old New York and Oswego Midland Company, with the money derived from the sale of the bonds of towns along the line. When the road passed into the hands of a receiver he found the branch doing so little business that he discontinued the running of trains on it. In 1889, when the Ontario and Western bought the Midland at receiver's sale, it found the branch in a most dilapidated condition, the bridges and trestles being too weak to support trains. The O. and W. officials decided that it would not pay to rebuild and operate the branch and accorologly the tracks were taken up.

In 1883, the people of the bonded towns, who thought they should have something to show for their money, began an action to compel the O. and W. to reopen the branch and this action has been dragging along in the courts ever since. The evidence taken before the referee plainly showed that the branch would do so little business that it would have to be operated at a very heavy loss and the referee finds that there is no warrant in law to compel the O, and $\overline{\mathbf{W}}$, to do this simply because the old Midland Company had at one time undertaken a losing job.

SIX TELEPHONES BURNED OUT

A Trolley Arm in Contact With the Wires supposed to Have Caused the

The telephones in the saw factory, Ge . F Ketcham's mill, the type factory, Smith & Sweeney's, and Dougherty & Reilly's were burned to be a fine treat to the music loving out, Thursday night, at the same time as the one in The Moffet, but The Moffet was the only place in which the woodwork of the instrument caught fire.

Superintendent Smith, of the telephone company, who has investigatthe burning out of the instruments, finds that none of the wires are down nor is there a cross anywhere. His theory is that while a car was rounding the curve at Main street and Academy avenue, its trolley slipped off the wire and the arm of the trolley while touching the trolley wire reached up to and came in momentary contact with the telephone wires above, which are not protected by a guard wire.

TH: ARMORY BALL.

A Very Great Success-Large Attendance of Dancers and Spectators,

The annual reception and ball of the 24th Separate Company, which was held at the Armary, last evening, proved to be the success which the members anticipated, and places the affair in the front rank of the sccial events of the season.

More than one hundred couples occupied the floor of the spacious drill hall and the seats around the room were well filled with spectators. The beautiful and costly costumes of the ladies, the handsome uniforms of the militiamen and the bright decorations of the drill hall made the scene one long to be remembered.

The West Point orchestra, which has always furnished the music for the 24'h's gatherings, is an attraction in itself and the concert which was given before dancing commenced, was thoroughly or juyed and heartily applauded by all present. Among the merry dancers were several guests from out of town. Among them were: Capt. Hunter and Quartermaster-Sergeant Jagger, of the 10th Separate Company, of Newburgh; Messre. P. C. Quackenbush and E. A. Blauvelt, of Paterson, N. J.; Miss Coates, of Brooklyn. Among the prominent guests of this city were: Mayor Stansbury, Ex-Supervisor Tuthill and wife, Supervisors James E. Brazee and John E. Iseman and their wives, Capt. and Mrs. Rockwell, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Corwin, and Capt. C. B. Wood and wife.

Miss Pope's Dancing Class-Personal Mention-4 Guild Entertainment in Prospect-Peacemakers Not Always Blessed,

(From a Special Correspondent)

-Miss Pope's dancing class will in future hold its sessions at private houses. It met at the residence of Dr. J. H. Thompson, last Wednesday afternoon. -Mr. Campbell Steward and family left Goshen for their home in New York, last Monday. -A play that will be given under the auspices of the ladies of St. James's Guild, is in process of rehearsal and will probably be produced in the near future. -We have divine authority for believing that the peacemakers are blessed, and no doubt they have the Lord's approval and receive their reward in Heaven, but in this world they are apt to have a rather hard time of it. There are very few people who have had fortunate experiences in attempting to adjust any difficulties that exist between others; they either succeed in widesing the breach still further, or bring them together, only to find that in some mysterious way they have incurred the ennity of both. Take, for instance, the case of one of those couples who are given to settling their matrimonial difficulties with the aid of such fireible arguments as fists or clubs or flat irons; if a peacemaker attempts to interfere when he thinks that one of the parties is in danger, do they not both immediately set upon him and, instead of blessings, shower curses and even blows upon his devoted head? It is a decidedly delicate matter to draw the line between an undue in terest in the affairs of our neighbors and an entire callousness and selfish ness. So long as we have human impulses and sympathies, it seems almost impossible to escape occasionally getting into that painful medium known as "hotwater." We'l, no doubt, we learn many useful lessons through our own mistakes. There is no teacher like experience, stern master though he be at times. If we do not profit by his instructions the first time, his punishment is severe, but very likely, as is often said to children under certain disagreeable circumstances, it is all for own good.

The pleasant flavor, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known and every family should have a bottle on hand.

MY SHORT STORY.

At last my story was done. My friends had always told me that I had literary ability, and now that my manuscript lay completed before me I felt that they were right. I had written it over and over again, polishing a crude paragraph here and strengthening a weak one there, putting in a touch of rhetorical ornament in one place and removing it where it seemed overdrawn in another, until I thought (and my wife, too) that the style was just per-

Then my wife copied it off in her own hand, to make sure that it should be perfectly legible, and we both went over it together, to see that the dots and crosses, hyphens and quotation marks, capitals and punctuation were all in due order, for we were determined that the editor of The --- Magazine should not be tempted to a rejection by any carelessness in the preparation of the manuscript. A stamped envelope was inclosed for its return, if not available, and the story was consigned to the

For the next two or three days I spent most of my spare time in trying to moderate my wife's hopes, by pointing out how many different questions had to be considered in deciding upon any given manuscript, entirely apart from its literary merit. My confidence was beginning to wane, and I was anxious that her pride in my ability should not be crushed if my story should be rejected. Then I received a short notice stating that the manuscript had been received and would be examined and reported upon at an early date.

By this time we had said all we could think of on the subject, and our conversation turned upon other themes, but the eagerness with which the mail was scrutinized whenever the postman came betrayed readily enough what was uppermost in our minds.

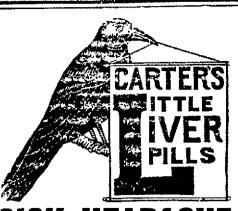

At last, after a full month of waiting, the longed for envelope came. I sat down at my desk to open it, making a wretchedly madequate pretense of perfect composure, and my wife stood looking over my shoulder. With trembling hand I tore open the envelope and drew forth a stand slip of paper:

"Your r anuscript, entitled 'A Moonlight Ran accepted for publication. Remittance for the same will be made in due course." There it stood in black and white, with the editor's signature at the bottom. My wife threw her arms around my neck with a shout of joy, and I upset the inkstand in my effort to make a fitting demonstration of my feelings. I was at last an author, and posterity would read my name and fame in the histories of English literature, along with the accounts of Dickens and Scott and Cooper and Holmes and Howells! My wife had hardly had time to recover her-If sufficiently to s, eak before I was deciding which one of the great magazines should be permitted to publish my next story and what style of binding I should choose for my first collected

As soon as our excitement subsided a little we began to speculate as to the probable amount of the promised remittance and the time when it would come. On the latter point we soon decided that payment would probably not be made until the story should be published, but on the former we found more difficulty in coming to an agreement. I calculated that the story would make 12 to 14 pages, and I did not expect more than $20 per page, or somewhere in the neighborhood of $250 for the whole. But my wife was quite sure that it would be more. She had read that as much as $500 was often paid, and sometimes, when the writer was very popular, even more than that. Of course I was not yet known as a story writer, but the story was so good, and the editor would be so anxious to secure my future work, that she felt sure he would pay at least one-half more than I sug-After two or three days of happiness, during which I made a rough draft of three more short stories, purchased a ream of writing paper and meditated more or less concerning a serial, we began to talk about what we should do with our money for the "Moonlight Romanec." We decided at once that I must have the works of such of the standard English novelists as were not already on my shelves. These, in good, plain editions, made for use instead of show, we thought could be had for about $50. Then I felt sure that my wife would have many distinguished callers as soon as my literary position should become known, and her parlor was rather shabby. So I told her she must have it repapered and put down a new brossels carpet. That would take $50 more. We had both staid close at home all the previous year in order to save money for the last payment on our house, and so we concluded to take a trip on the lakes, which would cost about $100. We did not feel like doing this, however, without some additions to our respective wardrobes, which would take probably $75 more. As these items went a little above my estimate, we concluded not to settle definitely upon anything else for the present, but I threw out a hint about a new piano, if her opinion as to the worth of my story should prove correct. I The April and May numbers of the magazine appeared, but my story was not yet published and was not among the advanced announcements for June. By this time I was well along toward the completion of the plot for my serial, but I felt the need of a wider reading in English fiction than I had yet done. What is the use of waiting?" said my wife. "The payment on the house isn't due until September. You can take some of that money for the books and replace it with the money for the story."

"Sure enough," I answered. "Lum glad you thought of it," and before sundown the wagon came from the bookstore with $50 worth of English novels.

I went to the parlor to ask her to come and see them, and there she was on her knees trying to darn a hole in the old carpet. Just think of it! The wife of the author of "A Moonlight Romance" engaged in such menial work as that, and her husband's study full of new books! I told her at once that it would never do. The parlor must be fixed up at once. By Saturday night the new paper was on the walls, and the new brussels was down, the money, of course, being secured by the transfer of $50 more from our house rund, to be replaced from the pay for my story. Some of our friends began to wonder how we could afford so much expense just then, but we kept the secret to ourselves and told them they would see it in due time.

When the June number of the magazine came, we found the following item among the announcements for July: 'A short story, entitled 'A Moonlight Romance,' by a new writer of great promise."

I had felt just a little uneasy about using the money saved up, to pay the remainder on our house, when we had no certain means of knowing how soon the money for the story was to come, but it was all right now, with two months to spare. "Why not take our trip now," said my wife, "while the weather is at its best?" Why not, to be sure? It was just the thing and would enable me to get some local color for a story which I had in mind dealing with pioneer life on the shores of Lake Michigan. So we drew $175 more from the savings bank, leaving just about $30 on deposit, got the tailer and dressmaker to do the necessary work for us in a great burry, closed up our house and started.

It was a magnificent trip. The fresh lake breeze, the green islands that we passed, the hazy blue line of the wooded shore in the distance, the foam sparkling in the sunlight, all contributed to make it the happiest experience since the days of our honeymoon.

Two days after our return the July number of the magazine and a letter bearing its imprint arrived in the same mail. We were so eager to see the story in print that we left the letter unopened until we had cut the leaves of the magazine and feasted our eyes upon every page. Then I tore open the letter and drew out a check:

The Commercial National Bank of - will pay to the order of Mr. — the sum of seven teen dollars and fifty cents (f1750). C. Q——, Editor of the - Magazine.

I have given up literature for the present and have secured $300 from the Building and Loan as-ectation to make the final payment due on my house. My wife positively refuses to read any of the new books which I bought and has asked me not to say anything more about the trip on the lakes, but for some reason or other she doesn't seem to regret in the least the part of the money which went for the traveling dress, the wall papering and the brussels carpet. -J. Hauson Williams in New York Post.

Early Infantry Equipment-

Among the arms now ob-olete which formed a large part of the infantry equipment in the days when the army was started was the pike, which was in the form of a spear, with a flat and pointed head, mounted on a staff from 13 to 18 feet long. The firearm in general use at the time was the matchlock.

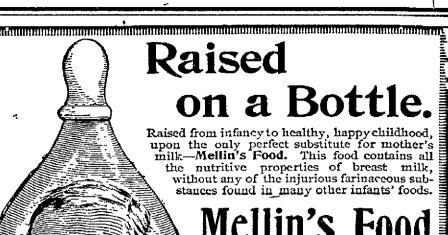

What would a sergeant major of the present day, with his mon armed with the magazine rifle, think of such a weapon as this: "Attached to the lock of this musket was a pan; also a cock, the hammer of which was somewhat in the form of a bird's, serpent's or dog's head. This head was split, and a screw compressed or eased the slits. The piece being loaded first with powder and then with ball, some powder was poured into the pan. The pan was then shut to keep this 'priming' from dropping out and to keep it dry. When the soldier wished to fire, he fastened his burning match into the slit of the cock, opened the pan, looked to his priming, presented and pulled the trigger. The match, falling into the powder in the pan, fired it.

"Between the pan and breech of the barrel communication was established by means of a small hole. When the piece was being loaded, the grains of powder were naturally rainmed and shaken down close to this hole, and when priming the soldier took care to perfect the communication of the powder in the pan with that in the barrel. Thus the explosion in the pan caused the ignition of the charge "-All the Year Round.

The adult who is not willing to wait is as much a child as the infant in the high chair. One cannot expect mature thought, patience and an appreciation of interchange of sentiment in a child. When he is a child, he sees as a child, he thinks as a child, but when he becomes a man he is popularly supposed to put away childish things, and it is on this line of reasoning that the new table rule has been instituted.

WILSON TALKS. MR.

Mare is Wilson; I do an insurance business on LaSalle street, in Chicago Ill., and I live in Evanston, Ill. Evanston is what was originally a scattering population on a pretty point on Lake Michigan, esteemed years ago far from the city of Chicago, but now one of the varied towns which may go within it by vote of the population. I am married and have a wife and one child. That child is a boy (I suppose I should feel the same solicitude if it was a girl), and I have a father's natural fancies as to what must be the best thing to give that child the right kind of intelligence, and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal and so divert his course that he may succeed in life. I have studied a great deal upon the subject. My own experience would not be of great value, because I have succeeded only to the limit of the average man and am barely established; still, I own the house and lot upon which I live, and am feeling perfectly safe in meeting the exigencies of the year. I want the boy to take a broader view than I did, to be a bigger man in the world. I have studied how to teach him to do that, and he has do be pretty well, as far as the preliminaries go. Now, I have thought over what I should say to him and have sometimes been puzzled. I could not very well tell him what to do. I wanted to tell him what I needed but what I did not learn myself when I was of his age, and what my father did not know how to tell me, or else was not thoughtful enough to do so. I wanted to tell him how to follow the example of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which of those who have succeeded at the present time and under the circumstances which ordinarily affect a young man struggling in this Republic established on this comparatively new world to-day. I wanted to tell him just what he had better do to get along well, and to point out to him what had been done by the people who were successful at the present time.

Of course, the record of the people of any time past would not be of so much valuc, because circumstances must necessarily have been different when they were alive. I feel confident, though, that if I could learn, some way and somehow, what the people who are so successful to day have done and how they did it, I could give to my boy such advice as would make his own life at least as far removed from failure as ju-tified by the natural ability he may possess,

I looked around for some authority which I might consult in order to give him the facts most essential with this idea of mine in mind, but I could find no e until I discovered that a great publishing firm in Chicago and decided to bring out a book giving the photographs of all the people who are prominent in America to-day. Here was what I wanted. The book, as I have learned, is going to be published in 16 parts, 16 pages to each, with a recent photograph on each page of some active leading American man or woman of to-day, while underneath appears the story of that same person's inte—the story telling what that person did, and how the ends attained were eventually accomplished. Here was what I wanted; here was what I needed in various ways; here was what I was certainly seeking in order to obtain the information with which to educate my boy ank secure for him that knowledge which will give him a source of thought and make him prominent in the world.

I have the first sheets of this work. It is a graphic story of America's Greatest Men and Women, told in each instance on a single page underneath a photograph of recent date, which conveys to the eye an idea of what that person is. photograph tells even more than the suggestive record beneath; and yet it is odd how in each instance the correct story corresponds with the expression upon the face which is reproduced in the portrait above. I do not know how the series will end. I know very little about this new feature of the newspaper people; I know nothing about the publishers and their expectations, but I do know this: that if the series so begun should be continued to its practical, ordinary good sense end-and I don't care whether that will include 200 or 700 of America's Greatest Men and Women, which is the title of the book—I do know this, that for the ordinary, active and alert business man—I will certainly say far more for the student or the literary man, or the politician or the statesman—for all these I will say it will be simply the most valuable and the most remarkable book produced in modern history. The wonder is that some one has not thought of it before. Yet no one seems to have done so since the days of Plutarch. Plutarch knew something. That shrewd old fellow knew that all who would get out of the drift, all who would accomplish great things, wanted to know every detail of the lives of those who had better luck or more courage or a broader brain than their fellows; but I am no authority on these points. I only know that there is produced a second Plutarch's Lives, that its biographies are shrewd, graphic and curt, and written without bias and without prejudice. I only know that there was a Plutarch—God bless the old fellow—and that there is this modern work.

This is the work I am going to give to my boy. I am going to make him read it thoroughly. The work is announced as consisting of 16 Parts, with 16 pages and 16 photographs in each part, and when bound, the whole series will make a great volume of 256 pages, the like of which has never been equaled. It is the story of the personal character of the men and women who are making the nation's history at this particular time. What a work this is! Do you imagine that I would miss it for my boy, or, incidentally, for myself?

Head and Scalp Raw with Places Size of Silver Dollar. Various Remedies only caused Fresh Eruptions. Applied CUTICURA. Change in Twenty-four Hours. Perfect Cure in Two Weeks.

My little son, aged three, was very much troubled with a breaking out on his scalp and behind his ear. The places affected were about as large as a silver dollar; the flesh seemed raw and covered with little blisters. The child suffered considerably, and was naturally very fretiul. I tried several remedies without obtaining any beneficial results, in fact the eruptions seemed to be spreading and new places breaking out. I concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I washed the affected parts with the Cuticura Soap, taking care not to irritate the flesh, and applied Cuticura. I noticed a change for the better in the appearance of the eruptions in twenty-four hours, and in two weeks the emptions entirely disappeared, leaving the skin smooth and the scalp clean, in fact a perfect cure, as I have not seen any indications of any emption or breaking out since. I gave the child only a few doses of the Cuticura Resolvent I consider your Cuticura Resolvent are very valuable. I believe Cuticura, which are very annoving in this country.
